

DIXON COAL YARDS ARE SHORT 7,000 TONS OF FUEL

HOYNE DENIES EFFORT TO END BASE BALL QUIZ

Says He Has Additional Evidence Secured in N. Y.

By Associated Press Leased Wire Chicago, Oct. 1.—State's Attorney Hoyne said today that he believed the present investigation here of alleged baseball fixing would be widespread and that he expected more indictments to be voted. Sufficient evidence to warrant prosecution of several players has already been disclosed, he said.

By Associated Press Leased Wire Chicago, Oct. 1.—Charles Comiskey, owner of the Chicago White Sox, asked State's Attorney Hoyne to investigate last year's world series immediately after the conclusion of the games. Hoyne said today after his return from New York.

Hoyne's office conducted the investigation for three or four days and found enough evidence to satisfy him that the series was crooked, he said. Not enough evidence was found, however, to prove the fact, he added.

Mr. Hoyne said: "I have been in New York and, of course, knew nothing about the actual facts in the case. I made no demand that the investigation be halted. I simply asked the grand jury not to take any action until I had a chance to go over the evidence and check up on some evidence that I expected to find. I did not attempt to influence the action of the grand jurors. They, of course, are the final judges in the matter."

"I simply asked them to allow time to be advised as to facts which have developed. Immediately after the world's series Comiskey asked me to investigate and said that he would pay the expenses of the investigation. I told him we would be glad to help him, and that if we obtained evidence, we would prosecute. We worked for three or four days on the investigation and obtained enough evidence to satisfy us that the series was crooked but we did not obtain sufficient evidence to act."

Mr. Hoyne said that he would give out another statement later in the day.

Continue Inquiry

The grand jury which has been hearing the case will complete its regular session today but Chief Justice McDonald, who ordered the investigation said it would be retained as a special grand jury devoting its entire time to the baseball situation. Judge McDonald said indictments and prosecutions could be returned on the evidence already submitted, but that no details would be overlooked in the investigation.

Wives of several of the players also may be called to tell what they know of the alleged "fixing" of the 1919 series. It was reported, Mrs. Claude Williams stated that she knew some rumors were directed at her, but denied that she had ever bet on a baseball game, or knew anything of the "fixing."

Reports said to emanate from members of the White Sox team credit "Happy" Felsch with having placed $50,000 accepted as a bribe from the gamblers, as a bet at 2 to 1 on Cincinnati in the second game of the series thus accumulating $15,000.

It is claimed he wired his wife in Milwaukee to come to Chicago for the first game here and that when she met him his greeting was to toss the $15,000 on the table. There are various accounts as to what followed. The players said the couple had a disagreement over the affair, but later made up and Mrs. Felsch deposited the money in a savings bank here.

The money was said to have been withdrawn last Monday. Mrs. Felsch is expected to be asked by the grand jury what she knows of the transaction.

Hermann Is Quizzed

August Hermann, president of the Cincinnati team and former chairman of the National Commission, appeared at State's Attorney Hoyne's office this morning with a portfolio of documents and papers relative to the cases of Hal Chase and Lee Magee who were driven from organized baseball last year. Hermann had been requested by the grand jury to bring the papers.

State's Attorney Hoyne arrived at his office from New York shortly before noon and said he would have a statement to make about 1 o'clock this afternoon.

By Associated Press Leased Wire Boston, Oct. 1.—The federal grand jury today indicted Charles Ponzi, promoter of the scheme by which millions of dollars were obtained from investors on promises to pay 50 per cent profits, for using the mails in a scheme to defraud. The indictments of which there were two of 43 counts each, were the longest returned here in years. Ponzi now is a federal prisoner at the East Cambridge jail and is under indictment also by state courts for larceny.

SCANDAL BLOW TO THE "OLD ROMAN"

CHARLES A. COMISKEY

Chicago.—Charles A. Comiskey, "The Old Roman," could hardly talk as he saw his tottering empire—the White Sox. Following the indictment of eight of his star players on charges of "throwing" the world series last year to Cincinnati, Comiskey immediately suspended them, wrecking his club's pennant chances.

MAYOR'S SISTER MAKES APPEALS TO TWO BISHOPS

MacSwiney Enters on 50th Day of Fast This Morning.

By Associated Press Leased Wire London, Oct. 1.—Terence MacSwiney, Lord Mayor of Cork, passed another very bad night at Brixton prison, where he this morning began the fiftieth day of his hunger strike. He slept a little before midnight, but not after that hour, said a bulletin issued by the Irish Self-Determination League today and during the morning was suffering severe pain in his arms and back.

Sister Writes Bishops. Miss Mary MacSwiney sent a letter Wednesday to Cardinal Bourne, archbishop of West Minister in which she said:

"Your eminence knows that my brother, the Lord Mayor of Cork, already has lived through 47 days of fasting for the principles of justice and freedom. Those who know how overworked he was at the time of his arrest did not expect him to live a week under the ordeal. . . .

"When the forces of the spirit are sustained in such a fight against the forces of injustice and tyranny we naturally expect to find your eminence on the side of the spirit. I, therefore, ask you plainly to call together your bishops in England to condemn the action of your government in their attitude towards my brother and his comrades in the Cork jail and in the name of Christianity to demand their instant release."

Miss MacSwiney also sent a letter to the archbishop of Canterbury, couched in similar strain, asking him to "call together the bishops of your church and in the name of Christianity and civilization demand of your government the instant release of my brother and his comrades."

KING EXPLAINS REAL CHARACTERISTICS OF CHAMBER COMMERCE

Is Organization of Citizenship to Think of Dixon's Needs.

The Evening Telegraph has requested Secretary D. King of the Dixon Chamber of Commerce to furnish a series of articles for the people of Dixon setting forth the functions of that body, what chambers are undertaking in other cities, what they have done and how they do it. Mr. King is very competent to write on the subject, Chambers of Commerce, because he has for several years followed their work closely. He has attended three National annual conferences of schools where ideas are advanced that have succeeded best in chambers all over the United States.

For one year, traveling on the staff of the largest organization promoting civic work and civic bodies, he has organized chambers in many cities. He has many secretarial friends throughout the country and receives literature from many of the cities which keep him fully posted at all times on activities in his line.

The subject for his first article as chosen and prepared by Secretary King is:

"What Is a Chamber of Commerce?"

"A Chamber of Commerce is a civic asset to any town. What benefits are derived from it? What work can it do? are naturally questions asked by residents of Dixon outside the Chamber, and as yet by some inside the body, cannot be explained in one article. Probably no one article will be complete in itself. Naturally the first question is, what is it?"

"A Chamber of Commerce is a gathering of all of the people of a community who want to undertake tasks of any nature whatever which will be a benefit to the town, village or city. In its modern interpretation, the Chamber of Commerce is a Chamber of citizenship. It is an organization freely open to any citizen of good character who will pay its dues or who is assigned a membership by a subscriber. It is not for any political party, any church, an group or any class in society. It is for any project which in the judgment of its members will make a better Dixon."

"It is an organized body of citizens working for the accomplishment of what many an individual citizen has hoped for. Whether it is building bridges, houses, parks, schoolhouses or the supervision of the same, the securing of factories; the holding of celebrations or providing band concerts, etc., if it is something which a considerable group think would either be well or necessary for the town it is well worth the effort."

BRITAIN WARNS POLICE NOT TO PUSH REPRISALS

But Sinn Fein Leader Says Reprisals Are Part of Plot.

By Associated Press Leased Wire Dublin, Sept. 30.—Warning against reprisals no matter what the provocation was given the Royal Irish constabulary by Sir Hamar Greenwood, the chief secretary for Ireland, in a speech on the occasion of a distribution of medals. He dwelt upon the provocation, which had been given the police, with 103 of their number murdered and 170 wounded, but declared no reprisals could be countenanced by the authorities. He congratulated the men upon their general maintenance of discipline.

"Your duty and mine," he said, "is to arrest criminals and endeavor to prevent further crime. I appeal to all Irish people, men and women, whatever their creeds and policies to live in this endeavor."

"I assure you that you have behind you in your great, difficult and dangerous duty the support of the government. We believe that the right will win in the end and that we are on the right side."

CHARGES BIG PLOT.

By Associated Press Leased Wire Dublin, Oct. 1.—Charges that the reprisals in Ireland were a calculated policy of the government, that the occasion for them was often afforded by the provocation of agents and that a plot exists for the assassination of the Irish Republican leaders were made today by Arthur Griffith, founder of the Sinn Fein organization.

Mr. Griffith preferred these charges in a long statement to American, English and continental newspaper men.

Soviet Troops Fleeing East in Disorder to Escape Foe.

BULLETIN.

By Associated Press Leased Wire Constantinople, Sept. 30.—Kharkov, an important city in Southern Russia, 250 miles north of the sea of Azov, has been captured by anti-Bolshevik forces, commanded by General Baron Wrangel.

Warsaw, Sept. 30.—(By Associated Press.)—The defeat of the Russians on the Polish northern front seems virtually complete. The Soviet troops are reported fleeing eastward in disorder in an effort to avoid being surrounded by the Poles who are in close pursuit. The result of the Polish victory is declared by the military experts as eliminating any chance of the Bolsheviks launching the fall offensive which War Minister Trotsky credited with planning to drive back the Poles from the territory they occupied after the failure of the Soviet attempt to capture Warsaw.

The advice from the front report that one Russian division surrendered to the Poles after having murdered all the commissaries with it who tried to compel troops to offer resistance. Tonight's communique declares the Bolsheviks all along the northern front were whipped unmercifully much to the discouragement of the commanders. The commander of the Third Bolshevik army committed suicide, it is asserted when he realized that his command had been completely smashed.

CHARGE HARMON MEN WITH ASSAULT UPON MAN ON OHIO HIGHWAY

Bureau Co. Sheriff Has Warrants for Arrest of Lee Co. Men.

According to the current issue of the Bureau County Republican, published at Princeton, four Harmon men are in for some trouble with the Bureau county authorities. The Republican says:

John Doe warrants have been issued and placed in the hands of Sheriff Len D. Spaulding for the arrest of four men, said to be residents of Harmon, who attacked Howard Anderson a week ago Sunday night on the highway near the Hans Smith bridge, southeast of Ohio. Mr. Anderson stopped to assist the party whose car had been dashed against a concrete culvert by an intoxicated driver, and they mistook him for someone whose dazzling headlights they blamed for the accident. The windshield on Mr. Anderson's car was smashed. His wife, who was with him, was badly frightened.

It is said that the four Harmon men, who were returning from a ball game at Earlville, were all intoxicated. Their car when it hit the culvert was completely wrecked and the occupants were cut and bruised. One front wheel was torn off the car, the radiator and front fenders were crushed out of shape, the axle was twisted, and the windshield was shattered. Two of the occupants were pinned under the car when it turned over in the road. The other two were thrown out when it hit the concrete abutment.

The sheriff is investigating the incident to ascertain the identity of the driver of the car and the man who smashed Anderson's windshield, and as soon as these facts are determined, arrests will be made. The Harmon men are all said to be well known residents of Lee county.

Mr. Anderson, when he made complaint at the sheriff's office, declared he did not care for the damage done to his car but he was eager to do his share in making the "highways safe for sober motorists."

War-Ridden Lands Show Improvement

Charles Wauters, Belgian minister of commerce, asserted that temporary advantages enjoyed by countries allowed to export freely will turn to their disadvantage as a result of prohibitive rates of exchange.

COAL DEALERS AGREE CRISIS EXISTS HERE

City Now Short 7,000 Tons; Receipts Are Curtailed.

That the time is ripe for the citizens of Dixon to become aroused over the coal situation as well as the price of coal, was evidenced this morning when a number of the coal dealers were interviewed. It is estimated that the coal dealers of Dixon have orders on their books for approximately 7000 tons of coal and are at a loss to know when they will be able to fill these orders.

One of the leading dealers said this morning that the public at this time could not be too much interested in the coal situation. The firm of which he is a member has orders on its books for more than 1000 tons and there is little prospect that these can be filled in the very near future. One car of coal was to have been received by the firm Wednesday but yesterday they were notified that the car had been confiscated by the Illinois Central railroad company.

Ordered in April

Another dealer said that he had unfilled orders for 1000 tons. Before the first of last April he placed orders with jobbers for 156 cars and thus far has been able to get only 39 cars. He added that the prospect of making delivery on the unfilled orders in the near future was not promising. Another dealer has orders on his books for 808 tons and is receiving about one-fourth of his supply. At the beginning of the year he contracted for 12 cars monthly but has received only three.

All of the dealers face practically the same proposition. They almost unanimously agree that now is the time to figure out some plan whereby Dixon families will be supplied with coal for the winter, without seriously endangering northern cities.

Buy Through Jobbers

One dealer stated this morning that he was buying his supply of coal through jobbers and thus far this season had been supplied more coal than all of last year. He advised that he had orders for several hundred tons on his books but expected to be able to fill these within two or three weeks. He appeared much more optimistic than the other dealers and believes that the city will not suffer from a scarcity of coal this winter.

Fried green tomatoes were a favorite breakfast dish at the sorority house in my college days. Dipped in crumbs, eggs, crumbs again and fried in half butter and bacon fat the taste is a bit like that of egg plant, only better. The bits of crumbs left in the frying pan make a distinct addition to the cream sauce.

Sees W. Virginia in Democrats' List

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Charleston, W. V., Oct. 1.—Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic vice presidential nominee, left here early today on a two days' campaign tour in Kentucky. He speaks at Lexington this afternoon and in Louisville this evening.

After a three days' trip through the northern part of West Virginia, during which he made more than 20 speeches and had the opportunity of meeting many people at dozens of railway stations he said, "I am leaving with the firm conviction that the state will be found in the Democratic column after the November election. Scores of persons who ordinarily vote the Republican or independent ticket told me they were going to vote this year for Governor Cox and I believe that sentiment is quite general throughout the state."

THE DIXON GAS RATE

The announcement that the Illinois
Northern Utilities Company has applied to the State Utilities Commission for permission to increase the gas rate
forty cents per thousand cubic feet gets a cold welcome in Dixon. Just now, when the cost of living is coming down through the substantial reduction in the price of many things, the increase in gas rates strikes a discordant note. It does not seem to be in harmony with the general scheme of things.

Dixon people particularly object to paying more for their gas at a time when the gas service is so thoroughly and completely "punk."

We are not prepared to say that the rate the company proposes is unreasonable. Only a knowledge of the cost of making and delivering the gas enables anyone to say what the gas should be sold for. Fairness reasons that the company must charge enough to pay the costs and also, to pay interest on the investment, for otherwise no capital would be invested and we would have no gas plant. The company will be obliged to show the state utilities commission what its costs are, and to prove to that body that the proposed rate will pay no more than a fair return on the investment.

The proposed increase seems a large
one. Any increase at this time seems out of place, for the peak of cost prices has been passed and coal and the other costs that enter into gas manufacturing should rapidly become cheaper.

It appears to the Telegraph that if Dixon is to continue to have the kind of gas service we have had for months that rates should be lowered instead of increased. We believe the rates have been automatically increased by the quality of gas we have been served for surely it must take much more gas to produce the necessary heat to cook a meal than it would if gas were up to quality. Our reasons for this belief are the testimony of the housewives and the size of the gas bills.

Ranting and abuse will not affect the situation. The Utilities Commission has the deciding voice. They may grant an increase if the company is entitled to it, and, if they are entitled to it, we do not believe Dixon people will object to paying a fair price. But it is also within the province and within the power of the commission to force the local company to give good service and we certainly believe that it is up to the Dixon gas company to give Dixon decent gas service before they ask a higher rate for gas.

We believe the city officials should,
and have no doubt that they will,
show the commission that the poor quality of the Dixon gas is already amounting to an increased rate for consumers. If the company's costs justify them in asking an increase, we believe the public's inconvenience and expense justify the public in demanding good service.

Dixon does not want to be unfair to its utilities. Our citizens are willing to pay reasonable prices. Our utilities are valuable to us and we need them
and we see that in order to have them
we must allow them to run at a fair profit. But, if Dixon is going to be fair and decent, we have a right to expect fair treatment in return.

Under the circumstances we think Dixon should oppose vigorously, the proposed increase in gas rates.

DIPHTHERIA.
After babyhood has passed, beware of diphtheria. Of all the deaths of children 3 to 4 years of age, more than one-seventh are caused by diphtheria.
Diphtheria is preventable and, when properly treated with antitoxin, is curable. Most of the children who die from diphtheria really lose their lives
because of the ignorance and carelessness of their parents.

Diphtheria is a disease most often occurring in children and resembling a sort of throat or tonsillitis. It is caused by a small germ called the diphtheria bacillus. The disease may resemble:

A very mild sore throat, the tonsils
and back of the mouth being red
than usual, and the person not feeling ill.

It may look like a more severe sore throat or tonsillitis with a white or grayish patch, called a membrane, on the tonsils. There may be only one or a few small distinct patches, and the throat may feel somewhat sore.
The glands in the neck, below the tonsils, may be slightly enlarged and may feel about the size of small peas.
The patient may feel rather ill.

Or the disease may be like a very severe sore throat, with small or large gray or white patches. Not only the tonsils but also the uvula, the small rounded end of the palate which hangs down between the tonsils, may have on it white or gray patches. If there is a membrane on the uvula, the disease is almost certainly diphtheria.
With such a throat the person feels very sick. Not only does the throat hurt, but there are usually aches in the back of the neck and the muscles generally. The glands in the neck may be quite large and feel painful when touched. The soreness in the throat may extend down the windpipe, and membranes may form there.
The patient is feverish and often is delirious. The fever, however, is not necessarily high.

Whenever diphtheria is suspected, a physician should at once be called.

Gray Hair.
Q.—Through worry my hair has grayed some lately. I have given up worry. Can you send me a bulletin on how to cure?
A.—Sorry to learn that your hair has turned gray from worry. There is nothing which can restore it, for surely you do not wish to dye the hair. If once you begin dyeing it, you will have to continue, and almost any one can tell dyed hair at a glance.
Gray hair is not at all unbecoming,
and I would suggest that you go one step further and stop worrying about your gray hair.

To make matters worse there was a moon, a great big round one, and the nights being quite as nice as the days, even a bit finer, nobody would do his night work or even go to bed on time. In fact, from the yawning and stretching in the morning you'd think the pupils came to school to

Minus its legal technicalities, this humor-provoking law says as how the voting booth's door must be high enough from the floor to "permit 18 inches of the voter's legs to be seen by the election officials in the polling place."

This, it may be explained, was made law before the era of woman suffrage.

The purpose was to prevent vote buyers from entering the booth with the voter to see that the ballot was marked according to the terms of the purchase.

You see, if the official spotted four legs in the booth he knew somebody was there aiding and abetting the honest voter to cast a ballot for the corrupt opposition.

But now—
Why, suffering cats! Indiana men are falling all over themselves hunting in applications for jobs as watchers in voting places. One Pike county precinct has applications from 76 men asking for the job. And there are only 77 men in that precinct.

However, one blind man lives there.

Be that as it may, a Kansas woman is suggesting a neat addition to the election laws of her state. All she wants is the right to cast her husband's vote also, thus relieving him from the necessity of quitting his work to vote.

"Women have more time to vote,"
she argues; "their husbands usually are employed far from the polling place, and many men do not vote for this reason. These men could thus vote by proxy, their wives, or sisters,
or mothers casting their ballots."
ooo

Squire Abner Harpington insists he knew all along that the next suffrage
step would be taken over the prostrate form of the once lord and master.

Other anti-suffrage devices recently invented by the skirted voters are:
"No smoking in or near the voting booth."—New York woman.

"Men must wear coat, collar and necktie."—Chicago dame.

"Mirrors must be placed in each booth, and rocking chairs must be provided for women waiting their turn to vote."—Baltimore woman.

THE BOOK OF ANN.

I SEE THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY
TO SAVE DADDY FROM A STROKE

Ann's good sleep had cleared her brain. I envied her. My own mind was in a whirl.

As soon as we were alone in her room, Ann dropped her excited chatter about her new house and turned to me abruptly with:

"You have some plan, Jane? I know you have. What are we going to do next?"

"I'm going to see the district attorney—if you consent. And I must say that I never expected to have to do an errand like this one."

"The district attorney? I don't know his business. It's something terrible, isn't it Jane?" Ann, who had been taking off her street dress, slumped into a chair. I wished that she did not have the bad habit of coming close to a faint whenever she was badly frightened. Finally she whispered:

"What are you going to see him for?"

"I'm going to tell him I know your name will be connected with that of Ives, that I suppose he will consult Daddy Lorimer before questioning
you. Maybe I can get him to wait until Bob comes home."

"That looks like a good plan," Ann courteously before motioning me to a seat.

I caught my breath and tried to recall what I had intended to say.
I had made up a fluent little speech before I left home. I had resolved to say just so much and no more, and I had rehearsed my little address over and over as I motored down town. But when the time came to deliver my choicely-arranged sentences, I began wrong, hesitated, stammered and stopped.

"No hurry at all, Mrs. Lorimer.
Take your time," said the prosecutor.
My husband is away from home. I had—I thought best to come myself.
My words stumbled over each other.
The prosecutor bowed politely. He seemed an impassive man for one whose sole joy in life was to ask worried people disagreeable questions. I thought.

At last I managed to get a better start on my prepared speech: I knew my sister-in-law's name would be connected with that of the murderer
man, that Daddy Lorimer mustn't know on account of the state of his health, and that my husband would soon be home to act in his father's place.

"Where is your husband?"
The assistant prosecutor, a small man at a side desk, put this question to me with startling abruptness. It seemed to me that the inquiry was unnecessary and that the man was impertinent. Nevertheless I answered him.

The little man rose to his feet and popped a second impertinence at me:
"Did you, Mrs. Lorimer, know Claude Ives?"

"I did not," I replied indignantly.

The small man paused, leaned toward me.

"Think again!" he said.

"I never met—" I started to say and then I remembered that I actually had met Claude Ives the day before he was killed.

What was that impertinent little man driving at?

The answer—the only possible answer to that question horrified me!

HARDING ADVOCATES CREATION OF DEPT. OF PUBLIC WELFARE

"Social Justice" Subject of Address by G. O. P.
Candidate.

By Associated Press Leonard Wire

Marion, O., Oct. 1.—Creation of a federal department of public welfare for the promotion of social justice was proposed here today by Senator Warren G. Harding, addressing women gathered at the home of the Republican presidential candidate for "Social Justice and Women's Day." "There can be no more efficient way of advancing a humanitarian program," Senator Harding said, "than by adapting the machinery of our federal government to the purposes we desire to attain."

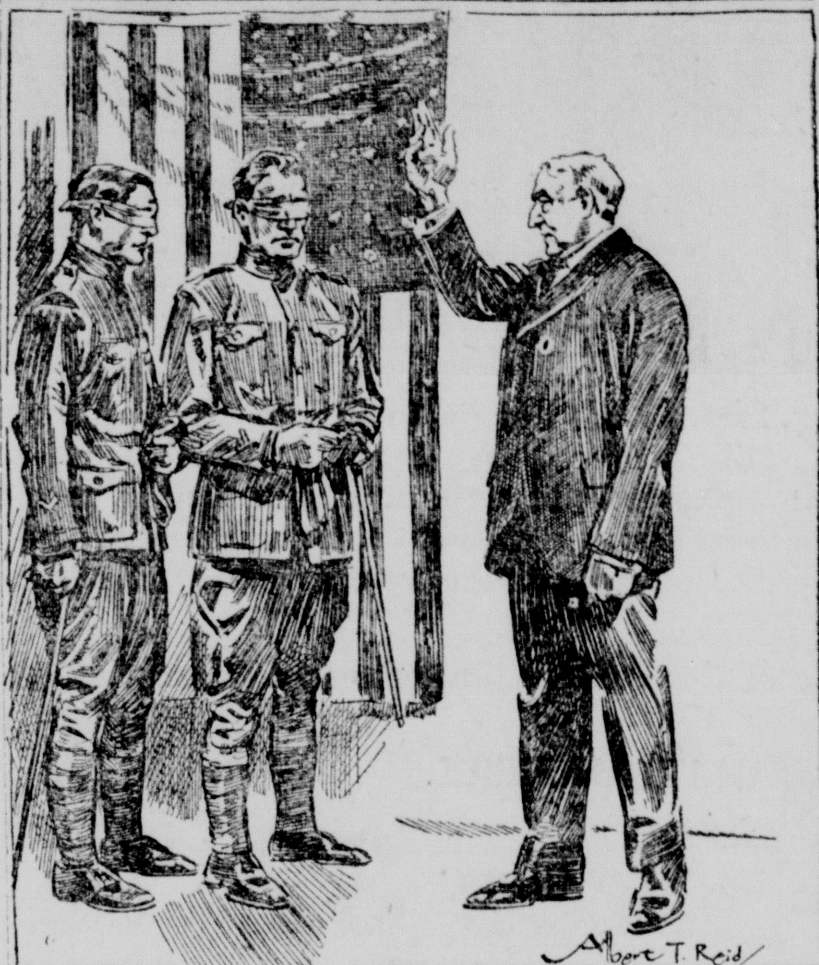

Characterizing enforcement of law as a paramount measure of social justice, Senator Harding said, "We must all condemn without qualification the failure of enforcement of prohibition, just as we must all condemn the failure of established authority to prevent outrages of violence, such as lynching."

Senator Harding took social justice for the theme of his address. "When making the proposal for a department of public welfare to America," he said, "I am aware that I have made a step in advance of any platform. I have chosen to speak to you on the practical question—the question of how to do the tasks. We must do the things American conscience is calling to have done."

For Women and Children

Welfare of the women and children of the nation was dominated the first interests of the new federal department advocated by Senator Harding. The scope of its interests, he said, would include equal pay for equal work by women, the eight hour day for women, fostering of appointment of women to positions on federal and state boards of employment, labor adjustment, etc., where women were

HIS PLEDGE TO THEM

Turning from his audience to two visiting blind soldiers, Senator Harding said in speech on August 25th.—"there never shall be a substitute for the stars and stripes you last beheld."

concerned, and normal labor for women on the farms.

Regarding industrial workers, both men and women, Senator Harding said he believed the government could assist in abolishing unsteady employment. The unrest arising from this source, he said, is "not a condition to be remedied alone by federal employment bureaus filling in the gaps of unemployment but rest largely upon conditions of industry which make for seasonal production and periodic closing and opening of industrial plants and occupations. I am enough of an optimist to believe that government can assist in the abolition of this unfortunate condition."

Every Job a Business

Senator Harding added that he thought that the government could take a large part in the second and, perhaps, even more important campaign to make highly specialized mechanical labor interesting. He viewed it as "our duty as a whole people to see if we cannot make every job in the country a small business of its own." Among activities coming under such a new federal department Senator Harding named the children's bureau and the various health agencies of the federal government. The work of the children's bureau, Senator Harding said, "must be extended and made still more capable of educating and assisting in pre-natal care and early infancy."

Keep Public Health

Next to maternity and childhood he said he believed attention must be centered upon the public health. While "alert to the dangers of too much oppressive bureaucracy in any great federal health bureau," he declared he wanted to see the "various agencies grouped together in a department of public welfare," for the promotion of the "most active and sufficient campaign against low standards of physical well-being."

In advancing his proposal of a new federal department, Senator Harding said:

"While others may have their eyes fixed upon some particular piece of legislation, or some particular policy of social justice which calls for the sympathetic interest of us all, I say, without hesitation, that our primary consideration must be the machinery of administrative government, and that when the time comes for us to re-organize our administration in Washington, we must all stand together for the creation of a department of public welfare."

"It is almost useless for us to go on expending our energies in advancing humanitarian policies which we wish put into effect, and it is useless for us to hope for the effective administration of humanitarian policies already undertaken by the federal government until we have prepared to create an administrative center for the application of our program."

"At the present time we find social welfare bureaus and social welfare undertakings scattered hopelessly through the departments, sometimes the one overlapping the work of the other, and sometimes, indeed, engaging in bickering between themselves. The picture is one of inefficiency and of wasted funds."

Against paternalism Senator Harding struck vigorous warning. "In creating federal departments for the administration of social justice and social welfare, we must avoid the fearful results of bureaucracy," he said.

"When we create in Washington a strong federal government and undertake, even for the most humanitarian purposes, new federal burdens, let us with all reverence pray that we shall never by this means put to sleep the spirit of duty, and the activities of the communities and neighborhoods of the United States."

AMERICAN SUBMARINES HAVE EARS

During the late war you had occasion to read and learn much about German submarines. You probably know more of the ex-Kaiser's U-boats than you do about those of your own navy, but we doubt very much if you have ever heard of the ears on board our under water craft which enables our little "Vipers of the deep" to hear.

The above picture shows some American sailormen at the Submarine Base, Coco Solo, Panama Canal Zone, making slight repairs on the microphones, or ears of the R-12, one of our latest submarines. There are three microphones to each vessel, placed near the bow, as may be seen from the picture. They are very sensitive, recording every disruption of the water below the surface, they will detect the hum of a steamer's propellers several miles away and indicate the direction and distance the object is from the listener.

The submarine base at Coco Solo is one of our best, the weather is always fine for diving and experimenting and it is here the several important inventions have been perfected to be used on our own U-boats. Experiments are being carried on every day with both submarines and sea-planes, many of them being of a secret nature.

There is always a certain amount of fun connected with work in the navy, no matter how serious it is. For instance, the lad who sent this picture gave it the following title: "Submarine detectors giving a little treatment to the ears of the R-12."

Chicago, Oct. 1.—The "busiest corner in the world" is at State and Madison streets—say Chicago native sons. It doesn't look like it—if you go 45 feet underground.

There, at intersecting tunnels, are signs on the walls showing that it's State and Madison. Not a bit of traffic, though—except an occasional trainload of cinders, earth from a building excavation or supplies for a hotel.

You can travel 65 miles in a network of tubes forming the Chicago tunnel system. Few Chicagoans know the tunnels exist, though engineers compare them to the Panama canal as an engineering feat.

Narrow-gauge railroad tracks carry freight trains that do the work of many thousands of horse teams and motor trucks daily, relieving traffic on the crowded streets above.

Turtles in Tunnels.
When a new building is erected there are no long lines of wagons carrying earth and tying up traffic. A connection from the site is made with the tunnel system and the underground trains silently cart away everything from the excavation. It is carried to the lake front. The huge site of new Field Museum was made by this sort of fill-in.

Ashes, cinders, waste and coal are carried in the freight subway. Also supplies to hotels. Which accounts for a number of turtles that live in the tunnels—turtles that fell off the train on the way to some hotel kitchen.

"Train crews always stop when they see a turtle on the track," said J. L. Creutz, superintendent of transit.

FIRE PREVENTION DAY

SATURDAY, OCT. 9TH

Governor Calls for Observance of Day in Illinois.

By proclamation of President Wilson and Governor Lowden, Saturday, Oct. 9, will be observed as Fire Prevention Day throughout nation and state. Citizens everywhere are called upon to send their co-operation in reducing the tremendous waste of life and property by fire, and local authorities and civic bodies to arrange appropriate programs.

Resources in the United States are being burned up at the rate of $900,000 a day—enough in a year to pay for the Panama canal or to equal the annual gold production of the entire world.

In Illinois alone, if the fire losses could be prevented for a single month, a $1,500,000 hospital could be built with the money saved. In three years the Illinois fire losses would build the state good roads system as contemplated under the $60,000,000 bond issue.

More tragic is the loss of close to 25,000 lives annually in the United States directly or indirectly from fire or burns.

No less than 75 per cent of all fires and 90 per cent of the casualties are strictly preventable. They are due to carelessness, negligence and disregard.

Conservation of life is an appeal as broad as humanity. Conservation of resources concerns everyone, for the wholesale fire waste aggravates the critical shortage of homes and business houses and has a direct relation to high prices. Every person should see that he himself does all he can to prevent fires.

Fire Prevention Day the country over commemorates the anniversary of the Chicago fire. The presidential proclamation, the first of its kind ever issued, was secured by Fire Marshal John G. Gamber of Illinois, who, as president of the Fire Marshal's Association of North America, went to Washington a few weeks ago and took the matter up successfully with the White House. Therefore, Illinois has sentimental reasons, also, for taking the lead in fire prevention.

Illinois Central Urges Co-Operation Of Its Patrons

The Illinois Central Railroad, like other railroads, faces the task of trying to move a greatly increased amount of business with facilities which are entirely inadequate. It is therefore of the utmost importance to make the existing equipment more efficient through increased mileage. This can only be done through the fullest possible co-operation between the railroads and the shippers.

The shipper is allowed forty-eight hours in which to load cars, and the consignee is allowed the same time to unload. By expediting the loading and unloading, they have it in their power to substantially increase the number of cars available for serving the public.

The average car-load on all lines is only 70 per cent of the carrying capacity of the cars. Thus 30 per cent of the total loaded car mileage is not being utilized. If all cars could be loaded to full tonnage capacity the car supply would be increased by nearly one-third.

For ten years preceding Federal control, the railroads added to their equipment an average of 118,846 freight cars per year, while during the 26 months of Federal control the Government added a total of 100,000 freight cars, at the rate of only 46,152 per year.

For ten years preceding Federal control, the railroads added to their equipment an average of 2,569 locomotives per year, while during the 26 months of Federal control the Government added a total of 2,000 locomotives, at the rate of only 923 per year.

For ten years preceding Federal control, the railroads added to their equipment an average of 2,762 passenger cars per year, while during the 26 months of Federal control the Government added no passenger cars whatever.

When the railroads went under Federal control on January 1, 1918, each railroad had upon its own line an average of 45 per cent of its own cars, while at the end of Federal control, March 1, 1920, each railroad had upon its own line an average of only 22 per cent of its own cars. The result of this broadcast scattering of the cars was that the general condition of the cars deteriorated and was much worse at the end of Federal control than at the beginning.

These are some of the reasons why there is a shortage of transportation, reasons which everybody ought to know, but we are now more concerned about the present and anxious to accomplish the utmost that can be accomplished with the impaired railroad plant with which we shall have to work until the cars can be brought home and put in shape and additional facilities acquired.

I urge that our patrons do their utmost to help us keep the cars moving. When it is considered that freight cars spend one-third of their time in the hands of shippers, it will be seen that the co-operation of the shippers is not only important, but absolutely necessary. The Illinois Central promises to meet its patrons more than half way and will do everything within its power to serve them.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

C. H. MARKHAM,
President Illinois Central Railroad Company.

should come up for serious consideration for action by the Chamber of Commerce.

James Wilson, foremost Chamber of Commerce guide, has said that the first function of a chamber of commerce is to teach the public to think. When the public begins to think along lines for its own benefit the most important step towards material prosperity has been taken. Out of this thinking come all the dozen or more things that make for progress. From this thinking has been known to grow better living conditions, more amusements, additional recreation facilities, more industries, better and larger trading facilities, more houses, better schools, better towns in which to live.

Must Learn To Think.

"This was never better illustrated

W. H. MORSE, of Seattle, Wash., who says he can now turn out as much work as he could thirty years ago, in spite of his age. Gives Tanlac credit for his splendid health.

"I am in my eighty-fifth year, but since taking Tanlac I am as hale and hearty as I ever was and can do as much work as I could thirty years ago," declared W. H. Morse, of 52 Blaine St., Seattle, Wash. Although in his eighty-fifth year, Mr. Morse is still daily to be found engaged in hard work down at the Ames Shipyard and is remarkably well preserved for his years.

"Last spring I had an attack of the flu that left me in a very badly run-down condition and so weak that I could hardly get around. For a long while I had a very bad cold that I couldn't shake off and my bronchial tubes were so choked up that I was coughing all the time. I had no appetite and in fact ate so little that I was steadily losing weight. I couldn't sleep at nights and became very much worried about my condition, because I couldn't find anything to straighten me up and restore my lost strength.

"I saw by the papers what fine work Tanlac was doing for other folks, so I got some for myself. It did me good right from the start, for in a very short while my cough left me, and I was eating fine and sure did enjoy every mouthful. I slept better at nights and was soon feeling much better in every way. I have gained seven pounds in weight and am so much stronger that I can turn out about as much work as most any other man, in spite of my years. Tanlac certainly must be a great medicine to put me on my feet like this, and I'm glad of the chance to tell everybody about it."

Tanlac is sold in Dixon by the Public Drug & Book Co. and by the leading druggist in every town.

HERE' THE JURY WHICH INDICTED BALL PLAYERS

CHICAGO—Here is the special Cook county grand jury which indicted eight members of the Chicago American League Baseball Club, following the confession of Eddie Cicotte, premier pitcher of the White Sox, that he "threw" the world series last year to Cincinnati for $10,000. He said seven other members of the team were in on the deal to throw the series. This is probably one of the first juries ever summoned to hear a baseball scandal.

than since I have been in Dixon. Many people have told me: 'We can't get anything done in Dixon.' I thought that this must be a strange city. They told me of lack of vision, divided interests, petty jealousies, discouragements through failure. Their answer came very forcibly at the open membership meeting Monday night. A few had arisen to give at my request, their suggestions for things to be done to benefit Dixon. It seemed there were no more ideas when Mr. Hartwell explained it all by his own experience. He had never been called upon to state or write down the things he wanted for Dixon. He had never thought out what they were. He knew there were things needed but he desired time to think them out.

"If there is any truth to the statement so often made to me, here was the answer. In short, the populace have not learned to think on their community problems.

"A slight analysis will show this function successfully accomplished means the making of a town. Whatever idea you may have for the betterment of Dixon is not accomplished for two reasons—lack of enough people wanting that result and lack of action. Given a few staunch advocates for a measure and plenty of education and if it is a worth while idea, it will get action. Good roads, city planning and every modern plank of city and country improvement did not become accepted planks to the large number until the small group with vision had made the public do a lot of thinking. So if the Chamber of Commerce can teach the public to think along civic, community, benefit-to-all lines, it will have filled its excuse for existence. Any community which has developed this thinking habit will develop leaders to put through the action when the education has been carried to a sufficient point.

"The old saying, 'we get what we want in this world,' is no more true of individuals than of cities. It used to be thought that a city grew to be a center of an industry because of location. This has been exploded in so many instances, as the case of Rockford for furniture, Detroit for automobiles, etc., that it is now recognized that city becomes a center of a certain industry because a dominant man, a group, or the populace at large think in terms of that industry, that group of industries, that tourist possibility, that power possibility or that transportation advantage. Today it seems the thought of Baltimore is centered on one topic—possibilities for ocean traffic from that port, and the harbor is crowded. St. Louis is apparently a unit on industrial expansion and 60 inquiries with a view of locating are received there where four used to be received.

"The one thought in Los Angeles for years was to get the tourists and they got them to the extent of $300,000,000 spent annually in California. Half a million of these tourists liked

New York, Oct. 1.—Manager Wilbert Robinson, who for the second time in five years has led the Brooklyn National League club's players successfully as pennant winners to be contestants for the World Series Championships struggle, was born at

Los Angeles so well they stayed there. Public thought then turned of necessity to the problem of drinking water. That solved, public thought was turned to providing employment for the thousands of people who wanted to live in Los Angeles, but who could not live in idleness. From a centering of the public on this problem of years, it is fast being solved by an industrial district. Cities get what they think about.

"When the thought of strong groups in a city can be centered on several interests, the city will advance along those several lines. And, without this diversified thinking, great harm can come to a community. Dixon will not stand still. Every person, thing and town goes forward or backward. To go backward, no thought is necessary. To go forward a city must improve along several lines simultaneously. To get factories, we must also get houses. To get people, we must also get additional educational facilities. To get people of higher grade, we must increase recreational and health facilities. These and many other things are brought through the agency of the Chamber of Commerce, which is a civic asset to any town.

Hudson, Mass., 56 years ago. For 36 years Robinson has been identified with the national game. Away back in 1884 he was catcher for the Haverhill, Mass., team for which at that time John Kinley Tener was one of the club's pitching staff. During 1884 and the following season Tener and Robinson proved to be a very effective battery. Many years later Pitcher Tener was elected governor of Pennsylvania and afterwards became the chief executive of the National Baseball league.

In 1888 Robinson joined the Philadelphia Athletics of the American Association and in his first major league game as catcher, scored the only run made by his team, which was beaten 4 to 1 by the New York Metropolitans.

Robinson's fame as a catcher and batter as well as a fast base runner is closely allied with Baltimore where he spent many years of his baseball career. Back in the 90's with McGraw, Jennings, Kessler, Kelley and others, Robinson established an enviable reputation as a great player when Ned Hanlon's famous Orioles won the championship three years in succession.

After McGraw became manager of the New York Giants in 1902 Robinson remained in Baltimore and played for several seasons with the International League club there.

In the development of pitchers Robinson was singularly successful and for several seasons he assisted his old friend McGraw in this department. He made several trips to the spring training camps of the Giants after he had ceased to be an active player. As a pitcher's coach with the New York Nationals he brought out Rube Marquard, who contributed his share to the winning of three successive pennants in 1911, '12 and '13.

Robinson began his management of the Brooklyn team in 1914 and two years later made them champions of their league. He persuaded President Ebbets to secure the services of Marquard and Munnix when these pitchers were on their way to the minor leagues and they are still with him now that he has landed his club for the second time as a big factor in the world series.

Never a martinet with his men, Robinson seems to have an innate power of controlling his players, displaying a sort of fatherly interest in them by establishing a bond of confidence and camaraderie with them gets the best that is in every member of his team whether on or off the playing field.

TRAIN LATE, CUPID WORKING OVERTIME.

Centralia, Wash.—John Walsh, farmer here, courted Miss Rose O'Reilly, of Butte, by correspondence. He sent her money to come to him. She didn't show up. John told his troubles to the postoffice inspector and they were ready to pinch Rose when Rose made her appearance. "Train was late. Cupid now working overtime."

The average rise and fall of the tide at Panama is only 2 feet.

SEES SHIPS OF OCEANS MOORED IN GREAT LAKES

Sec. Ill. Manufacturers' Assn. Has Prophetic Vision.

By Associated Press Leased Wire. Chicago, Oct. 1.—An address by Major General George W. Goehals, builder of the Panama canal was the chief event on the program of the ninth annual convention of the American Association of Port Authorities.

Particular stress has been placed by the delegates on waterways from the Great Lakes to the gulf and through the St. Lawrence and speakers yesterday predicted that Great Lakes Harbors would soon become "great world ports."

John M. Glenn, secretary of the Illinois Manufacturers said "men of vision can see the time when deep draft ocean liners will cast their hawsers as a daily matter of course over the mooring posts at Great Lakes Harbors."

"Thousands of lighter draft vessels," he went on, "will come up the Mississippi from New Orleans and the Gulf of Mexico, from Central and South America from the south sea and the Antipodes. European carriers will voyage up the St. Lawrence and will return with grain from the almost inexhaustible stores of the Mississippi valley."

Cost About $120,000,000. The estimated cost of developing the Great Lakes route was placed at a maximum of $120,000,000. This sum would be expended principally for cutting connecting canals and erecting locks.

"One half at least of the cost of transportation and the congestion of present system are due to the fact that we have neglected the economic development of our waterways," Mr. Glenn asserted.

"Now that the railroad transportation cost have become excessively high and it has become easily apparent that the rails cannot accommodate more than a small percentage of the traffic, the only thing left is to develop the waterways."

"These short-sighted individuals who believe that the future transportation needs of the Mississippi valley can be cared for by the railroads alone resemble the London burgess who could not vision the day when the greatest city in the world would outgrow the walls that confined the English metropolis to the narrow limits about the tower."

PEOPLE'S COLUMN.

FREE SPEECH.

For obvious reasons it seems timely to have several short articles on the subject of "America's Last Liberties" in the People's Column of the Telegraph.

Born in the throes of revolution, the government of the United States of America rests not upon bayonet, the divine right of kings, the sanction of the ecclesiastical politician or the tyranny of financial potentates, but upon the will of the people of America, a will which functions at the ballot box in obedience to public opinion. If the time ever comes or if it has already come, when in America the right of free speech and public discussion of all questions is forbidden and a rule of force or craft, or both, takes the place of the rule of reason, then the American Republic as a democracy ceases to exist. I would like to give a few quotations showing the truth of these statements:

"They that can give up essential liberty to obtain a little temporary safety deserve neither liberty or safety."—Benjamin Franklin.

"It is the constitutional right of this people to canvass public measures and public men. This privilege I shall defend in time of war and time of peace."—Daniel Webster.

"How shall we ever learn toleration for what we do not believe? The last lesson a man ever learns is that liberty of thought and speech is the right for all mankind; that the man who denies every article of our creed is to be allowed to preach just as often and just as loud as we ourselves. We have learned this—have been taught it by persecution on the question of slavery. No matter whose lips that would speak, they must be free and ungagged. Let us remember that he does not really believe his own opinions who does not give free scope to his opponent."—Wendell Phillips.

"If there is one thing we love more than another in the United States, it is that every man should have the privilege, unmoistened, to utter the convictions of his mind."—Woodrow Wilson.

"I have the right, I think, to advocate in the way of free speech the altering and reforming of this government of ours into either socialism or monarchy, if I choose to do so, and no law in this country should close my mouth."—Thomas R. Marshall.

"It is right to punish overt acts but the only way to deal with beliefs is to meet them, expose their fallacy and present the facts which prove them wrong. That is the American way."—Calvin Coolidge.

"The tendency to crave and assert arbitrary power, to use power—either economic or political power—ruthlessly is more apparent with us than denation to the cause of liberty. The true method is to trust the truth to find the remedy. Does a grievance exist? If it does not then show it does not. If it is exaggerated, limit it to the facts. To the degree that it does exist search for the remedy. If a wrong remedy is exposed, expose it. If the remedy proposed is worse than the grievance demonstrate it. The motto for democracy must be:

Educate, educate, educate. You can find no other security than the conscience and intelligence of the people."

"But you cannot at once educate and stifle opinion. There is hope in the free air. There is tonic in confidence in the ultimate success of what you strongly believe to be true; but the policy of denying free expression of political opinion is death to the Republic; for that expression is its vital force. The practice of putting large discretionary powers at the disposal of officers needs a curb."

"The patriot in speech demands a government on established principles; and he should always be ready to contest officialism and bureaucracy with its readiness to suppress individual freedom by capricious administrative action.  The law has no business whatever to interfere with any individual opinion nor with any organization to spread that opinion. Opinion is absolutely free in this country. Insofar as it is not we are defective in liberty which is supposed to be one of our inalienable rights."—Dr. Frank Crane.

Another time I will give a little current history on Suppression of Free Speech.

Mrs. Bass Charges Foe with Perversion

New York, Sept. 30.—Mrs. George Bass, chairman of the women's bureau of the Democratic national committee, in a statement issued at headquarters here today asserted that Mrs. Arthur L. Livermore, chairman of the Republican women's state executive committee, had deliberately and willfully perverted the English language in her attack at Somerville, N. J., last night upon the League of Nations and its provision in relation to traffic in women and children. Mrs. Janet A. Fairbanks, of Chicago, vice chairman of the Democratic national women's bureau in a statement today also declared that "it is incredible that Mrs. Livermore believes the leading statesmen of the civilized world met at the close of the most frightful war in the history of the world to connive with and advance the cause of the white slave."

Sugar Price Took Another Tumble

New York, Sept. 30.—The sugar market weakened again today and prices declined to new low ground for this year for both raw and refined grades.

The Federal Sugar Refining company reduced its price 1/2 a cent to the basis of 13 cents a pound for fine granulated.

Say Lipton Won America's Heart

London, Sept. 30.—A number of intimates last night gave a dinner
 in honor of Sir Thomas Lipton
 on his return from his unsuccessful attempt in the United States to win the America's Cup. The guests were Lord Dewart, Baron Leverhulme, Baron Inverforth and Sir John Fergusson.
 The sentiment of the speeches was that although Sir Thomas had failed to win the cup he had won the hearts of all Americans.

Poles Need 150,000 Tons of U. S. Grain

New York, Sept. 30.—Forty per cent of Poland is without grain and farming implements as a result of the Russian soviet invasion and the subsequent eastward advance of the Polish armée according to a cablegram received today by the official Polish purchasing bureau here from the Polish food minister. Crops in Poland are extremely poor this year, owing to bad

Armed Guard Plan May Be Adopted in Ireland By Britain

Belfast, Sept. 30.—Continuance of rioting and bloodshed in this city is viewed officially as creating an intolerable situation, and Ulster's proposal for an armed civic guard is likely to be adopted by the government if disorders continue.
 Threats by the Sinn Feiners that organization of such a guard would be taken as a "declaration of war"
 with a resultant uprising of Irish Nationalists, are not taken seriously, it being asserted that "the existing situation cannot possibly be worse."
